SPEED OF PROJECTILES.

How the Velocity of Cannon Balls and Bullets is Measured.

How fast does a bullet travel? The highest velocity ever given to a cannon ball is 1,626 feet per second. This is equal to a mile in little more than three seconds, or nearly twenty miles a minute.

A rifle bullet does not travel so fast as a cannon ball, the average rate being 1,275 feet per second. This matter of speed is tested in a very interesting way.

A long wooden shed is used, in which a distance of exactly 100 feet has been carefully marked off. At each end of this space is a stand something like a target with a large circular opening where the bullseye should be. Across each opening is stretched a small electric wire, connected with a delicate instrument in another room.

The rifle from which the firing is done is so aimed that the bullet which flies from it cuts both wires. Obviously the difference in time between the cutting of the two wires marks the speed of the bullet through that 100 feet.

When the first wire is cut an electric current is broken and a rod falls, moving a pointer on a slide in its descent. The breaking of the second wire acts in the same manner on another set of rods, slides and pointers.

The difference in the marks made by the pointers on the slides makes it possible to estimate the difference in their time of fall, and from these calculations accurate figures as to speed are obtained.—London Answers.

SEEKING HAPPINESS.

Little Things That Make Living a Joy Are Not Always Appreciated.

We are told that happiness comes by pieces and that it is these small bits linked together that make our lives worth while. Some of us are not content to take our happiness by degrees or at intervals. We want it all the time in big pieces, and if we cannot have it that way we think that we are deprived of our natural rights and look upon ourselves as injured beings.

It is a rather singular expression of human nature how happiness affects the individual. With some of us it makes us friendlier toward others and anxious that they should experience like joys; with others it makes us too satisfied with ourselves to think very much of our neighbors.

Perhaps those of us who know what the joy of living means have experienced both of these attitudes at different periods of our lives and are in position, therefore, to appreciate a varying viewpoint, but even so it is only after we lose something of that joy of living and have found out for ourselves that there are shadows which no amount of sunlight can disperse that we can readily appreciate the blessing of whatever happiness may find its way into our lives.

The little things that count so much in our intercourse with each other are not always regarded as highly as they should be, and for this reason we pass by much that would give us joy if we only knew how and where to find it.—Charleston News and Courier.

Gardens in the Ice.

A glacier when it dislodges itself and sails away over the Arctic ocean never travels alone. In the wake of every large one floats a line of similar companions. The Eskimos call this phenomenon "the duck and ducklings," and any one who has watched the progress of the wild duck followed by her brood will appreciate the aptitude of the name. Strange as it may seem, plants grow and blossom upon these great ice mountains. When a glacier is at rest moss attaches itself to it, protecting the ice beneath, just as sawbush does. After a time the moss decays and forms a soil, in which the seeds of buttercups and dandelions, brought by the wind, take root and flourish.

Professional Pawners.

In many of the mean streets of London there are professional pawnbrokers—women, well known to the pawnbrokers, who for small payments take clothes and household goods to pawn for their neighbors. It is stated that the function of the professional pawnbroker is twofold. The woman who pawns through a recognized intermediary gets a larger loan than she would if she did the business herself. For the pawnbroker the professional pawnbroker guarantees the good faith of the owner and will be able to exercise pressure in case of default.—London Express.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Ocala Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are weak. Help the kidneys do their work. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the tested kidney remedy. Ocala people endorse their worth. J. A. Chandler, proprietor of The New Grocery, 34 W. Broadway, Ocala, says: "One of my family had been having considerable trouble with the back and kidneys. At one time the patient was obliged to give up for several days on account of lameness across the back. As soon as Doan's Kidney Pills were taken these troubles were relieved and by continuing their use, a cure was eventually made."

Price 50c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Chandler recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 2
